

Class 1: Normal Green ASC-Except Grey Green

A Rowe (Vic)

Steve Elliott (SA)

D Andrea (Victoria)

Judges Comments:

- This was a very even class in the top group and the birds kept changing.
- First is a nice overall bird with good qualities throughout. A strong bird and well presented
- Second has a tendency to pull in and when he did we moved him down a bit in the placings. He is down in shoulder to the first bird.
- Third is a nice overall type with good mask and spots and very good black on yellow wings. Nicely feathered with good deportment.
- Fourth is a lovely bird above the perch with a reasonable top end but has a tendency to cut away. Excellent length with good head qualities.
- Fifth bird is an excellent dark green that needs comment because he had great head qualities and good shoulder but was out of condition and so stressed at the start that he was almost sick but has improved as time went on.

Class 2: Normal Grey Green ASC

Welshman Family (NSW)

G Gazzard (NSW)

G & M Watson (NSW)

Judges Comments:

- First bird is a really super Grey green Hen – much stronger than any of the cock birds benched. This bird caught our eyes from the start. Really nice feather above the eyes. She is a big powerful bird with great shoulder, mask and spot
- Second place is a cock bird which again is a big powerful bird, solid right throughout. Lovely face, good mask. Little down in spot and has minor ticking. Not as solid through the neck and shoulder as the hen.
- Third is another cock bird with lovely directional feather and cap but lacking width of the first two birds in the neck and shoulder regions.
- Fourth bird is a smaller finer feathered cock with many modern features which is looked for today but not as much impact as the three placed above it.

Class 3: Normal Blue ASC-Except grey

A & C Druery (NSW)

Ian Hannington (NSW)

Norm Wheatley (WA)

Judges Comments:

- First bird is a powerful bird, a super Sky blue with very long feather, good head width and lovely shoulder. Whoever prepared this bird did a wonderful job because with such long feathering it is very difficult to bring them into such lovely show condition. This bird stood out.
 - Second is a lovely Violet cock with good feather, super length and good variety colour and lovely width of head. He is missing one flight and was penalized for this and moved down but his quality brought him back up to second placing. He has good width of head and can really lift the cap feather and when he does he is magnificent.
 - Third bird is another Sky Blue cock bird. He is a long bird but tends to pull in a lot. When he decides to let go, he is a lovely bird. He is also missing on flight and was penalized accordingly.
 - Fourth is a long bird but was lacking slightly in the body when compared to the three above it. When this bird lets go, he is a terrific bird but down a little in spots.
 - Fifth bird is shorter but has a lovely face and width of head. Down a little in body strength and deportment and lacks a little in body size.
 - Sixth bird is our highest placed hen with a strong body. She is a little ticked but that is only a penalty. Unfortunately she lacks a little impact.
- The quality dropped away after that. The first ten placed birds are quite competitive

Class 4: Normal Grey ASC

Tim Philpott (TAS)

A & C Druery (NSW)

Ian Hunter (VIC)

Judges Comments:

- A very strong class with quality almost all the way down the numbers.
- First bird is a big powerful bird with a little ticking but powerful with good markings, head, mask and spots.
- Second is down a little in power but still a stylish bird. Excellent type, markings and head.
- Third bird is another large powerful bird but a little down in condition with loose feather and a lot of opalescence particularly in the neck area and not black and white in the markings.
- Overall a top quality class of birds along the top line.

Class 5: Black Eyed Self ASC

Sheppard & Flanagan (Vic)

Peter Dodd (NSW)

John Richardson (NSW)

Judges Comments:

- A couple of birds here are probably lucky we have this particular lighting in this hall as the body colour is showing signs of grey but not in the cheek patches so we let them go.
 - We have to make comment on the last placed bird – we are judging Yellows and this bird is very suffused.
 - The second last bird has chewed tail feathers so penalized accordingly
 - First bird is a lovely hen which is strong in the body, deep colour. She has a good head with strong shoulder. She is a worthy winner.
 - Actually eight out of the twenty one birds benched have blue feet and this is strange as usually we have fifteen of the twenty one birds with pink feet seeing they were bred through Cinnamons.
 - Second is a long cock bird but down a bit on colour but well placed but to size and deportment.
 - Third is a solid hen but was a little loose in the flights and where they sit which detracted from the overall bird's confirmation but still a nice bird.
 - Fourth – the lighting favoured this bird to allow it to be placed in this position.
 - Fourth to ninth are very even in colour with good structure and size.
- Bird in cage A has an eye problem otherwise it would have been in third place.
An even quality throughout the class

Class 6: Lutino

R Loats Estate (Vic)

Caulfield Family (Vic)

Ian Hannington (NSW)

Judges Comments:

- It was very hard to find a bird to put straight up into first place – hard to find an impact bird.
- First four birds are on par and each has different features.
- First place is a cock that is down in colour but has a large head, good length, outline and directional feather.
- Second is a hen and is the best presented bird benched as there is not a feather out of place. She has beautiful colour, good condition and conformation.
- Third is larger bird but shorter in body. Not the same impact of the first two birds.
- Fourth is a good bird with modern features but down in size.
- The birds are very even down to tenth placing.

Rowe Brothers (Vic)

Judges Comments:

- First bird is an absolute show bird with good head width, overall length and style. This cock has good colour also.
- Second is a powerful hen with excellent feather over the eye but not quite as good in showing.
- Third is a cock bird with good length and outline but not as strong as first two.
- Fourth is another cock very similar to third but a bit smaller.
- Fifth is a very nice hen but getting a little dirty. The flights don't sit quite right on the body.
- The bird in cage K is a really nice bird but the tail has broken off.

Class 8: Clearwing ASC

L Downey (Vic)

Geoff O'Connor (NSW)

K Hatherell (Vic)

Judges Comments:

- Very nice variety birds throughout this class. The top line is displaying size and substance with good variety characteristics.
- First is a Light Green cock which is big and strong with good contrast with the yellow in the wing extending down to the flights. This bird also showed very well.
- This bird has excellent length in body, nice width of head.
- Second place is a Dark Factor Hen again with lovely contrast between the body and wing. Shows well and again is a strong bird. Super deportment with excellent contrast between wing and body colour. Super variety bird but not quite as big as the winner.
- Third place is a Dark Green cock and has the best feather and nice clear flights and good contrast and size but not quite as good in the deportment area. . He doesn't lift cap so hard to judge his length of feather.
- Fourth is a Light Green cock and good variety bird with nice head feathers but missing a couple of inner flights and is a little ruffled around the tail.
- Fifth is another nice bird but a little dark in the flight feathers. Good size.
- Top shelf are all nice birds but there is a vast difference between the winners and the birds at the end of the class.

Howard & Home (Tas)

Martin Paoli (Vic)

Geoff Tonkin (Vic)

Judges Comments:

- The first bird was placed at the front and stayed there – a very worthy winner – a real standout. Good outline and excellent head qualities.
- Second is a big powerful hen. A larger bird than the first place getter but did not have the head qualities of the first.
- Third is another solid powerful Greygreen with good size, outline and colour.
- Quality is good up to eighth placing and then quality falls away.
- Bird in cage E is a very nice style of hen but is so out of condition she has a blue cere.
- Bird in cage H we No Awarded as we feel it is a Grey Yellow and the bird in Cage U we considered to be a Dilute.

Judges Comments:

- This was the best class we have judged so far. Top quality even on the bottom row.
- The first bird is a standout. Lovely face and mask and if you were going to be negative at all, maybe lacks a bit in the body. Has excellent blow and width of head.
- Second is a nice solid bird. Has width of shoulder and head. Has a tendency to fall away if rested for a while and needed the judges presence to show.
- Third has a lovely top skull but is down one spot. It is a similar structured bird to second again with width of feather. Preparation and condition saw this bird placed third.
- Fourth is a nice powerful bird but a little loose in feather.
- Overall a strong class for about the first fifteen placings and was a pleasure to judge.

Judges Comments:

- This was a very strong class right down to eleventh placing.
- The first bird is a magnificent cock which is long, strong and super feather and face. When he lets go, he is magnificent. He is missing one flight and penalized accordingly but still a very strong bird. Excellent condition.
- Second is another strong bird with good direction of feather and super face. He is also missing one flight. He has better colour than the first bird but not quite as long in body as the winner but a strong bird.
- Third and fourth birds are very close. Third is a nice long strong bird and length of feather but has a tendency to drop its wings but when he turns it on he is a good strong budgie with good shoulder.
- Fourth has magnificent colour and shows all the time. He pushes up the feather and has a nice square face. Not as strong in the body as the first three.
- Fifth was our highest placed hen – and is a white hen. She is a strong bird but in rough condition. A super hen with good head with and lovely feather.

B Hunt (Vic)

Kakoschke & Rice (SA)

Judges Comments:

- First place bird is a Light Green showing good variety. It has a lovely clean cap with directional feather, deportment, deep mask, large spots and good colour. The cap was the crowning glory.
- Second is slightly more powerful than the third bird and has a deep mask, large spots and is a good size. A strong shouldered bird but without the showmanship and style of the first bird.
- Third bird is similar to the second. Another big strong shouldered bird that was difficult to get to show. There was very little between second and third.
- Fourth bird is a nice long bird displaying good variety but did not have the power of the birds placed above it and did not have the cap of the first bird.
- We are very happy with the Opalines as it was a very strong class and it was good to see some nice clean Opalines amongst the class.

Belcher & McKellar (Vic)

Mike Gearing (WA)

A Rowe (Vic)

Judges Comments:

- As much as we would have loved to put up nice clear capped and clear mantle birds unfortunately birds displaying those features were not as good in quality. The first four birds are all displaying flecking or ticking to some degree.
- The first is a hen which showed the entire time. A strong hen with good direction of feather but flecked. Too strong overall for the flecking to impact.
- Second bird just would not sit enough. She is a big strong brute of a hen and I think the breeder will have all the trouble in the world trying to breed with her. A huge framed hen that would not perch to see her full potential.
- Third is a green cock which is nice and tidy. He has a good outline but not of the strength as the two ahead of him.

John Richardson (NSW)

Judges Comments:

- The first bird is a Clearbody Grey Normal with a very powerful face, good shoulder and outline. The tail is a little short but a clear winner.
- Second bird is a Normal Greygreen with good length, shoulder and face. Has a tendency to drop its head down and needs working to get it to show. Not as powerful as the first bird.
- Third is an Opaline Greygreen and is a nice solid hen with good mask and spot. Preparation let her down in the mask area.
- Forth is a Normal Greygreen and was well presented but not as powerful in the features as the birds placed above it.

Class 15: Lacewing ASV, ASC

Wright Family (South Qld)

G Rowe (Vic)

Ian Hannington (NSW)

Judges Comments:

- The first bird is a very nice budgerigar. An Opaline showing lovely wide shoulder, face, mask and head. A little shorter than the second bird but has much stronger features.
 - Second is another Opaline which is a very long bird but not as wise through the face as the first and has a tendency to drop its wings a little but still a good variety.
 - Third is another Opaline and has very good deportment, colour and face. Has a really excellent cap with good feather but is missing a few feathers in his head which detracted from his overall appearance.
 - Fourth is another Opaline with good colour, length and width but is a little short in the tail and it is bent.
 - Next six birds are pretty even with good colour and variety but just a bit smaller than the winners.
- Overall a nice class of Lacewings.

Class 16: Fallow ASV, ASC

Daniel Goodee (NSW)

Whell Family (South Qld)

Whell Family (South Qld)

Judges Comments:

- There is a large gap between the first two placings and the rest of the class.
- The first is a Cobalt cock with super width of head, wide face, good feather length and direction and shows well. It has strong variety with good mask and spots. Not as long in the body as the second bird but stronger overall.
- Second is a Green cock another nice strong bird with a bigger body than the first but not quite as wide in the shoulder nor the head. Excellent length of body and deportment, good variety.
- Then a gap to third which was a Green cock which was a good variety bird with nice size and shape. Just did not have the quality of the first two placings.
- Fourth is another Green cock with excellent deportment and great shoulder but not the same size or feather as the winner.
- There was good variety throughout the class.

Class 17: Yellow Faced Blue ASV, ASC

J Ennis (Vic)

Ray Slade (SA)

G & M Chandler (NSW)

Judges Comments:

- First is a big powerful Yellow face Grey Hen with a little ticking but her size, power, shoulder, wide head and large spots overcame the ticking.
- Second is another Yellow Face Grey which hasn't quite got the power as the first but still has a nice style, nice head and spots.
- Third is a clean capped bird, a little smaller than the first two and tends to lie over the perch. He has a big deep mask, good spots and good head qualities.
- Fourth is a cinnamon Yellow face with suffusion running through the body and therefore penalized.
- Fifth is another Cinnamon but then the quality tends to fall away.

Class: 18 Spangle ASV, ASC

Charlie Chiang (South Qld)

John Richardson (NSW)

P Thurn (Vic)

Judges Comments:

- The first bird picked himself. A really powerful bird with a nice face, good length, solid shoulder. Has good directional feather and width. He has no spots which detract a little but a worthy winner.
- Second is a good solid Greygreen cock with solid width but has a tendency to look down. He is a nice variety bird.
- Third bird is another Greygreen cock is not far behind second but not quite as strong.
- Fourth is a very nice bird with good face and variety. Unfortunately he has ruffled feathers at the back of his neck which detracts from the outline.

Class 19: Dominant Pied ASV, ASC

Jean Painter (NSW)

D & G Pymont (NSW)

B Paterson (Vic)

Judges Comments:

- A wonderful class which was great to judge.
- First is a Light Green cock which is a super bird with magnificent feather, lovely mask and spots with a super cap and feather. Good length and good width and depth of mask – an easy winner.
- Second is a Light Green hen, big and strong body, super width of shoulder, magnificent shaper, good directional feather, great deportment. Not the length of feather as the cock birds but lovely directional feather.
- Third and fourth are very close. Third is a Light Green Cock which has lovely direction of feather and is a long bird and when he pushes his feathers out he is really nice and looks super when blowing.
- Fourth is another Light Green cock and has excellent length of body and good feather length more upright than third, and pushes his feathers up higher but has not got the direction of feather as the third. He also has slightly ruffled feathers on the chest which spoilt his outline.
- After that they dropped away a little with length etc. Bird in cage L has lovely feather but was penalized heavily for the missing flight feathers.
- A very strong class down to eleventh placing.

Class 20: Recessive Pied ASV, ASC

V & K O'Reilly (South Qld)

Geoff Russell (South Qld)

Mario Capasso (NSW)

Judges Comments:

- The first is a green hen which is a huge powerful hen with good head qualities. Markings for this variety should be between 10% to 20% - this bird is slightly over that. The other negative was the ticking on the head but seeing it is a hen, it is not as bad as they usually are. Her power carried her through.
- Second is another Green which is well marked with good size but not the power of the first place getter.
- Third is a blue cock which was good from the start. It is a nice long bird but slightly over marked.
- Fourth is a big framed bird with nice had, down on markings and slightly down on condition and did not show to the best but nether less a good overall bird.
- Fifth is a smaller bird but with very good head qualities, good type, cap, mask and spots.
- Overall a good class of Recessive Pieds down to half way along the bottom row.

Class 21: Crest ASV, ASC

Sheppard & Flanagan (Vic)

Blair & Poole (Tas)

Kakoschke & Rice (SA)

Judges Comments:

- The first three birds are good budgerigars and excellent Crests.
- The first is a Cinnamon Sky hen and is an excellent budgerigar with good length and solid through the body and shoulder.
- The second bird which is a Dark Green Cock was in first place for quite some time but we decided to swap them over. He has a super mask and spot, good outline but a little short but still an excellent crest.
- Third is a Dominant Pied Light Green Cock is a good crest with reasonable length and showed well.
- Fourth is a Dominant Pied Opaline Cobalt cock and is a good strong bird with length and shoulder but a multi crest.
- Fourth and fifth placings have multiple crests and were penalized. Fourth bird does not look up due to the crest being in his eyes.

Class 22: Hens ASV, ASC

Bob Smith (South Qld)

Alan Kent (South Qld)

J Leong (Vic)

Judges Comments:

- This was a nice class of birds with all the top placed birds good quality.
- The first was a Normal Grey which stood out and was not moved. It is a lovely super strong hen with a good chest barrel and wide across the eye. She has good length, shoulder, mask and spot.
- Second is a Cinnamon Greygreen which is another strong bird with nice strong brow, solid hen, good mask and shoulder.
- Third is an Opaline Cinnamon Light Green which varied in style to the first two. It is a lovely long strong bird.
- Fourth is another Normal Grey which is a good solid wide bird who showed well.
- Birds were overall strong right through but condition influenced placings.
